Richmond, Va., April 16.—Congressman Springer, of Illinois, in an interview in this city yesterday, on the political situation, said:

"If the Democratic convention had been held just after last fall's election, Mr. Cleveland would have been nominated by acclamation. In Illinois we made the fight on tariff reform, and tariff reform was the chief issue nearly everywhere. But, of course, Mr. Cleveland's return the company.

quiry. The leaders are trying to find out how far Mr. Cleveland's views on silver will affect the interest of the party. They are perfectly willing to put aside all special issues for the great issue of tariff reform, and for the sake of party victory. For example, I am a silver man, come from a state in which the Democracy is for free silver, but if we find in 1892 that Mr. Cleveland will make the strongest candidate before the country, we will be for Cleveland.

for Cleveland.

"Mr. Cleveland is the only man now "Mr. Cleveland is the only man now who has a concentrated national feeling, but as I have said the party leaders are earnestly inquiring and will continue to inquire until the time for the convention in 1892. We mean to do the best thing for the Democracy. If Cleveland is the people's choice in 1892 he will be nominated, and will win at the poils. If, on the other hand, we find that the Democracy wants somebody cless we will nominate somebody cless we will nominate somebody. body else we will nominate som somebody-else we will nominate somebady else."

"In case Cleveland is not the man in 1892 who will be?"

"It is impossible even to make a guess at a question like that. Conditions may arise which will bring out a comparatively new man. For instance, if McKinley and Campbell oppose each other for governor of Ohio, and Campbell were to carry the state by a large majority, Campbell would then be a very strong man in the national convention, or if some Democrat in New York were to carry that state in the guberstate by a large majority, Campbell would then be a very strong man in the national convention, or if some Democrat in New York were to carry that state in the guternatorial campaign by a surprising majority, as Cleveland did when he ran, why that New York Democrat would be strong in a national convention. But I say it is impossible under the strong in a national convention. But I states the strong in a national convention. But I states the strong in a national convention.
